Glenrock Gardens

Glenrock Gardens is an award winning country garden set in the high country of New England in the historic and pretty town of Tenterfield, NSW, Australia.

It is the perfect venue for all events including weddings, workshops and garden tours and spectacular in all of the four well - defined seasons.

The 10-acre gardens were voted the Best Australian Garden by the viewers and readers of Better Homes and Gardens in 2006.

They are incorporated within a working farm and although the gardens are very much designed in the English style with dry stone rock walls throughout, they are also surrounded and interspersed with iconic Australian bushland.

A succession of lakes divide the parkland, the northern prairie borders and woodland gardens with the terraces, croquet lawns, spring borders and double borders.

Below are a few hot tips from past brides sharing their experience from their big day. FOR MORE MUST HAVES + REGRETS CHECK OUT THE FULL LIST >HERE<

1. BRIDAL PARTY

"Be conscious of not getting caught up in the hype and excitement of being engaged when you choose your bridal party.

I think when you get engaged you get all excited and want to start including people in the planning process with you straight away but looking back on it now I wished I'd waited and put a bit more thought into who would actually be good for my wedding party rather then just asking my best friends straight out.

I think if I had my time again I'd chose people to be in my bridal party that would actually be good at organising things and supporting me and helping me with my wedding and planning. Then have all my other close friends and family come to the hens night and things. I wanted to include my friends in the experience and I realised I can do that without having them in the bridal party itself."

2. THE DAY AFTER

"Because we had family travelling from out of town we waited to go on our honeymoon a few days after our wedding rather than the next day.

Also keep in mind you've just had one of the biggest days of your life especially in terms of energy you've put into the day so you're probably quite exhausted. So having a day to sleep in and maybe have a breakfast or brunch date with family the next day is a nice mellow way to ease back out of the big event from the day before."

- (Plus from a vendor stand point a LOT of brides forget about the pack down that happens the day after so if you do jet set off straight away you'll need to organise friends and family or workers to do these things in advance.)

3. VENDOR HELP

"Lean on your vendors for some inspiration

They do this stuff on a daily basis and its literally things you've never thought about before and you don't know what you don't know...

So ask them... what have brides done in the past similar to your wedding...

It really helped me out and gave me some good ideas too. "

1	WE JUST GOT ENGAGED! NOW WHAT? WHERE DO I START?
	First thing to do is celebrate! Take in the moment and enjoy
	Second is put together a rough idea of guest numbers and a budget
	Third is to start compiling a bit of a "style "or "theme".
	Get a Pinterest board going so you can see everything in one spot so when making deci- sions for services you've narrowed things down from anything in the entire planet to a few ideas that will bring your vision together!
2	HOW FAR IN ADVANCE SHOULD I BOOK THINGS?
	Short answer—ASAP. At the very least if your budget is tight just enquire early on so you can see what's available for your date and each individual vendor can help you out with booking their service from there.
3	WE DON'T HAVE A BUDGET. DO WE REALLY NEED ONE?
	Yes! Or at least a rough idea of one. Having a rough guide is a good idea so when you approach your services you know which package of theirs is going to be most suitable. At the very least if you have a rough guest count this can help act as a guide if there is no budget.
